Presidential Letter

Dear Chapter members,

Happy new year, and welcome to 2021. Last year will no doubt go down as one of the more challenging years for all of us. As we adapt and reinvent through 2020 at our clubs, your chapter board of directors was hard at work, making changes to meet the year's challenges and repositioning the Chapter for the future.

Under the leadership of the Chapter President, Josh Thomas, and the hard work of our Managing Director, Kimberly Campuzano, the Georgia Chapter Board strengthened Chapter finance and improved the quality of our chapter educations to the next level. The Board's actions result in a higher return of value for our chapter membership and set the Chapter up for an exciting 2021.

A few key areas of focus for the Georgia Chapter Board are chapter educations, finance, community connection, and succession in the coming year.

- Education -- Begin the work for speaker lineup for 2022 education conferences and position the Fireside Chat as the platform where managers of all levels come to for fellowship.
- Finance -- The Board of Directors will continue to practice its fiscal conservatism to maintain a robust financial position for the Chapter.
- Community-- As with our clubs, we strive to be the good citizen of our communities. The Board of Directors will work to create opportunities for our members to connect with our local communities through volunteering, fundraising, and donating.
- Succession-- The Board of Directors and our committee volunteers will represent the club industry in local colleges and high schools to cultivate the next generation of talents for all club industry disciplines.

I can remember a time when I didn't think someone like me can hold the position of Club Manager in this industry. Today, I am grateful to have the opportunity to represent this Chapter as its next President and humbly accept all the responsibilities that come with it.

I am honored to be a part of this great Chapter and the club industry, where continuous improvement is a way of life. I am also incredibly proud of the progress the industry has made and will continue to make. 2021 represents an immense opportunity to translate the lessons learned into better experiences for our Chapter members.

As we progress towards a better tomorrow with the chapter members' support, we will make the Georgia Chapter of CMAA the best Chapter for us.

Sincerely,

Michael Henley
Chapter President
